I felt that I came to an open, spacious area with few structures. I sensed it was breezy and the air smelled clean.

I came to the first structure. It was low, flat with an A-shaped roof. It was rather simple in design. I sensed a large structure taller beside it "joining it." I sensed there was an L-shaped man-made structure coming down from the structure and coming across the ground. It had a tunnel effect and it ~~had~~ a banging noise.

I sensed a rounded entrance & I then sensed a bigger structure behind it to the side. This structure was held up by pillars and had a large base and felt that it had historical value. It was more elaborate and I felt it was an administrative building.

I then went back to the smaller structure and entered it. I entered the first floor and it was a circular area with a strip running across the floor. Men were standing working and not dressed up. I then entered another floor. I saw a huge desk and felt door cases running down the side of a wall. I sensed a window size and it was made of thick, thick glass. I sensed ^{some} wall hanging and a small rounded table. I sensed that one part of the room was more personal and the furniture matched.

I sensed ~~that~~ a thrown carpeting. This room seemed exquisite.

I went back to July 82.
I sensed men, dressed up,
~~from~~ drinking alcohol.
They were meeting. I felt they were there on business but they were relaxed, talking serious.

I then sensed there was an object in the room. Standing up.
It was dull and shiny, large. The object just sat there and the men were touching it.
Then the men could move the object and place it under and put it away. It was put away.
It was an expensive
object.
