Summary of Information

Yeltsin wants to sell us something that is very, very significant; plans, positions, something like that. It has something to do with Siberia. There is also a concern about his navy. He is worried about safeguards. He wants to place high-ranking U.S. personnel on each of the nuke-carrying subs in order to have a "fail safe" situation. He is worried about policing his own military. He may offer information on nukes.

He is interested in a joint US-USSR world peace keeping force. He wants a large scale exchange of personnel for this joint military/security force. He is also interested in joint space project(s); also the money, personnel and facilities involved with such an endeavor. He feels that the US-USSR should control the world economy.

Other fragmentary stuff included concerns over fruit, coffin-like boxes, CASTRO, training facilities in South America, furniture and suits.

There is a crystal blue-white void associated with Yeltsin. It feels empty, hollow, cold and lifeless. Screams could be heard.

There is also something hard and angular in close proximity to the water.
