MEMORANDUM FOR: Chairman, Interagency Working Group
on Intelligence Production

SUBJECT : NFIP Guidance for FY 1984

1. With respect to your attachment, "Items for Emphasis in FY 1984 NFIP Guidance," enclosed with your memorandum of 16 November 1981 on the subject, the Senior Review Panel has the following comments:

a. Production (paragraph 1 of attachment). The proposed guidance should be made more explicit. The number of analysts and linguists may not be as important as their quality--including their background, education, training, linguistic ability, and the like. Analyst requirements should be stated in terms of the area/subject and specific language qualifications needed. Special attention should be given to analysts that may be required for basic sciences and technologies as analytical effort in these fields seems to have fallen off in the past several years.

b. Collection.

overt collection should be emphasized as an area that seems not to have been exploited fully.

Verification of strategic arms limitations:
Should a special, coordinated, all-out effort be made to improve our ability to verify present and possible future START agreements through new or improved collection concepts and means? Greater openness or controlled "on-site" inspections, even if agreed, may only increase the requirement.
