CARAVEL CONTACT REPORT

CASE OFFICER:

1. Meeting: Social/business meeting from 1730 to 1900 hours in CARAVEL's home on 8 May 1963. Next meeting about 25 May to be arranged by phone. In the interim the case officer will check by phone for any significant developments re the Juisit. A Miss FUHR will be CARAVEL's secretary, but serious messages should be left with Mrs. JUNG as heretofore.

2. CARAVEL's travel plans:

Ć

14-18 May	Algiers
1-14 June	Leave in the Westerwald with mother and in-laws
18-20 June	Kriminalamtsleiter conference in North Germany
17-29 August	Helsinki for Interpol annual meeting
31 Aug-14 Oct	Middle East trip on behalf of UN Narcotics Commission

3. Subjects Discussed:

a. _____ visit. CARAVEL will keep us informed on CASTIRRUP and other plans for covering the visit.

b. SAEVECKI case. According to CARAVEL the investigation is slow, the evidence puny and the probable results negative, both in the sense that nothing new or substantial can be pinned on SAEVECKI and also that it is having a demoralizing effect on police officials. As far as SAEVECKI ever working again, he is de facto "dead". A separate dispatch has been written on this subject.

c. David TZITZICHVILI case (for \frown \Box . Following up on the local Interpol checks run at the request of \bigcirc \bigcirc (see last contact report), CARAVEL personally checked the Interpol files in Paris on 2 May and found no card. \Box \Box has been notified.

d. Francois GENOUD and the Algerian Police. CARAVEL is going (14-18 May) after he was officially invited and obtained Foreign Office and French Interpol approval. Though CARAVEL has not been cut in by UP-HILL on their interest in the Algerian Police Chief YUSFI who invited CARAVEL, he was able to provide information which may clarify for MLB some of the UPHILL ramifications of the case. A dispatch to MLB has been written.

e. Afghanistan Police Trainees C CARAVELdid not know of any Afghanis presently in Germany, but admits he may have missed some traffic in January when his wife was killed. He will check and produce dossiers if they are here. As far as he knows there are only a few Egyptian, Indonesian and Sudanese trainees in West Germany.

f. Parviz TAHERPOUR (ODENVY request). After checking for two months, CARAVEL cannot come up with any method of eliciting the bank account information that ODENVY wants. Perhaps he can do better if the place and dates of birth of the German wife and her parents are provided, but CARAVEL is doubtful. Dispatch will be written.

g. Political subjects.

1) Nomination of Erhard. CARAVEL sees "dark grey". Agrees with Adenauer that Erhard is not a politician and this is a time when such are needed. Quoted Hopf of the Ministry of Defense as saying (during the Spiegel affair) "It will be a tragedy if Erhard gets nominated. He is too soft. He can't even get his ideas through his own committees." CARAVEL thought that Schroeder could help Erhard and emerge as Chancellor if the CDU wins thenext elections. CARAVEL thinks an ERHARD cabinest will only see 3 or 4 personnel changes. Interior Minister Höcherl might become Minister of Justice and the FDP might then get the Ministry of Interior. MENDE had once expressed an interest in the job, but he is totally unqualified for it.

2) Notstandsgesetz. On 7 and 8 May the Kriminalamtsleiter of West Germany met in Wiesbaden to discuss their posture and ideas in regard to the role of the kriminal police in a war or other emergency situation: CARAVEL was appalled by the lack of seriousness shown by the police chiefs in discussing the subject. They argued endlessly about what role the kriminal police could or should do to help the political police in a "Notstand" situation, and were emphatic about not giving the BfV, LfV, or BND any executive powers in such a situation, but there was little that was constructive. The participants adhered either to the idea that no emergency was likely or that should one come it would be accompanied by atomic explosions which make contingency planning senseless. They could envisage nothing in between. Dr. BENEDIECK of Niedersachsen was a particularly obnoxious obstructionist in the discussions. According to CARAVEL, the basic problem is that no kriminal police official wants to get involved in political police work-- ever. The continuing trials of police officials accused of WWII political crimes committed in office have so scared the average kriminal police officer that he will avoid political police involvement at all cost.
