

Attached herewith is a translation of A manort allegedly prepared by DOLLMAN Eugene, which Source permitted [] to read during the latter's visit to his office. Only after giving all assurances that his indiscretion would not be revealed to the report's author or, more particularly, to Source's chief was [] permitted to take the report for photographing. No operational details are known, but at the time Source remarked: "Your people are probably supporting DOLLMAN in Switzerland, so I think you should read this. I don't know why he writes reports for us".

- 2. It is apparent that the Italian of which the attached report is a translation, was itself translated from German. Probably of scarce intrinsic interest, the report is submitted in view of its possible specific interest by reason of its origin.
- To facilitate reference, the following outline of its contents is set forth:
 - a) German public opinion regarding German rearmament
 - b) 1918 historic precedent of Russian General Staff-Renascent German Army liaison
 - Russian efforts in W. Germany concentrated on establishing contacts with military technicians rather than in advancing position of German Communist Party 3

1 N₁₄ In their views concerning their country's rearmament, Germans agree on only one point: participation in Western plans solely on a basis of absolute parity with other members of the Atlantic Pact. No German government could long stand without taking into account unanimous public opinion to this effect.

-3-

- 2. At this point an extremely serious question comes to the fore; with whom would the new German force ally itself at a decisive moment? A reply is difficult, but recent history is still fresh in our memories. One recalls the post-1918 Schwargen Reichswehr, the close contact between the young German army of the period and the Russian General Staff, and the reciprocal exchange of visits and instructors.
- 3. Today Russian agents are not particularly concerned with Communist Farty success in western Germany, but are concentrating on establishing contact with important ex-members of HITLER's Army, officer specialists, flyers, and Pantewaffe personnel. It daily happens, quite "by chance", that Colonel "X" is contacted by an unknown gentleman who brings him greetings or a letter of introduction from an old comrade-in-arms. This mutual acquaintance also recounts that the old friend who is now in the Eastern Zone invites the Colonel to come there to visit him or that he make arrangements for a meeting elsewhere. The same thing happens, always "casually", also among former members of the old Afrika-Korps, most of whom are southern Germans. The latter in particular have conserved their old esprit de corps, and, masking their meetings under various pretexts, hold monthly beer-hall reunions. Their chief subject of discussion is their course of action, their choice of allies in the event of outbreak of war. I have spoken with many former Afrika Korps members, and not one of them has evinced any faith in Western promises to defend Germany. Second only to the demand for "unconditional surrencer", the gravest error committed in the political field has been that of continually changing views regarding the line of Western defense: yesterday the Rhine, today the Elbe, tomorrow the Fyrences. The result is that now each German is trying to work out an "arrangement" with the East or with the West.
- 4. There is an important group of high German officers which, gathered in an extremely important Lager near Frankfurt, at war's end began to write a "war history" for the Anglo-Saxons. In return they were promised facilitation of their de-Masification proceedings. Outstanding in this group are General HALDEM, ex-Chief of General Staff and an extremely intelligent individual, and GeneralWSSTAD are this of Staff to Marghal KKSSKIERN and, practically speaking, the latter's brain during the defense of Cassino, Rome, and the Gothic Line. WESTFAL is an Eastern Prussian, highly intelligent, extremely cold, at one time HITLER's youngest general, and is married to a Hungarian noblewoman. A leading role is forecast for him in tomorrow's Germany. Unlike KESSELENE, WESTFAL belongs to that Prussian circle of the former German army which regarded Italian military valor and morale, especially of officers, with diffidence.

- 5. Another German tendency is baaded by the no less cold and intelligent ex-Waffen-SS General STEINFL who at one time was regarded by highest SS circles as HIMGLER's probably successor. He is unknown in Italy, but was one of the outstanding military leaders of the Bussian front. Today, supported by officer and EM faithful of the Waffen-SS he is engaged in febrile activity, and holds a position of great influence in the new German extreme-rightist party.
- 6. STEINER and Hoechster-SS und Poliseifuehrer Italien Karl WOLFF formerly maintained only purely formal relations, and in the former's circle WOLFF's behavior in the May 1945 capitulation was regarded with great diffidence.
- 7. Thanks to the energetic intervention of his collaborators of 2 May 1945 (Baron PARRILL, the American Gero von SCHULTZE GEEVERNITZ) and the Swiff Prof. Max HANSMAN) WOLFF now enjoys complete freedom, although German authorities had earlier condenned him to ten years imprisonment as HIMMLER's ex-Chief of Staff. Today WOLFF lives near Munich and is building a new life under patronage which can easily be imagined.
- 8. On the occasion of a visit to KESSELRING, then an inmate of a prison in one of the Bhine provinces, WOLFF reminded him that if he had taken a more active part in the surrender negotiation he too would undoubtedly be free. This observation was not kindly received by KESSELRING, and it will undoubtedly be a factor of negative influence in future relations between the two.
- 9. KESSELRING, whose legal liberation is the object of various attempts, in all of Germany enjoys an unlimited popularity which might be compared to that one extended to HINDENBURG. He has been dubbed the "Invincible Marshal", and it is firmly believed that his personality will one day dominate that of all others. His Catholice faith and the sympathy which he enjoys in religious circles, not least among them that of the Jesuits, gives KESSELEING added stature.
- 10. As regards KESSELRING's present (today, perhaps, illusory and purely theoretical) and future relations with Italy, the following passage from his attorney's letter of 29 September 1949 to a wellknown personality is of interest:

"Er glaubt insbesondere eine solche Vermittlung guten Gewissens annehmen su koennen, weil er tataschlich wachrend der Kriegsjahre viel fuer Italien getan hat, was erst die spactere Geschichtsschreibung voll amerkennen wird. Wie er auch in seimen venezianischem Prozess ausdrucklich betont hat, schlagt auch jetzt sein Hers wie ehedem fur italien."

11. Relations between KESSELRING and WESTFAL are excellent, and, therefore, it is easy to foresee what attitude the latter will be influenced to take with regard to Italy.

- 12. Young Germans, especially former HITLER Youth members and their ex-leaders, continue to maintain close contact among themselves. They have evolved a middle-of-the-road solution for emergency application. Their project reportedly consists in the creation of a Partisanem-Schler, that is, a line to be defended, in case of attack, by Bavarian, Salsburg, Tyrolese, and, beyond the frontier, Italian partisans. Their plan would be put into action without awaiting decisions from nations of the Atlantic Paot, an organ which they see as able to become operational only after the passage of many years.
- 13. Gurrent Bavarian tendencies are surprisingly similar to those manifested in the post-Warld War I period: an extremely vital monarchico-Catholic sentiment, sympathetic regard of the possibility of possible reunion with the Tyrol, greatest lack of interest in Berlin and the establishment of a central government. Changed, however, is the 1918 attitude towards Italy. Today the latter enjoy great sympathy, her political efforts are followed with greatest interest, and enormous admiration is extended to the person and the politico-diplomatic capacities of DE GASPERI. It is to be added that this phenomenon, a strange one at first view, one whose existence has been confirmed by numerous meetings and conversations, also extends to the North Tyrol where today there exists an extremely strong current which favors union with Italy in order to rid the region of the weight and peril of Vienna. This solution is favored particularly by the ex-Nasis group. Certain ideas of Morthern Italian ("Alto Adige") ex-Nasis are not at all shared in the Tyrol, and, from the Italian point of view, it would be most interesting ro follow closely these currents and opinions. En-Turin Sicherheitedienst chief Dr. L. SCHMID, since 1945 an immate of viewout at the Tyrol, and his assignment te political observation in the region could undoubtedly be of great use.
- 14. The Order of Maltr could likewise be most useful in all this game. Even at present it is very active in the field, but its current activities are limited to the high Catholic aristocracy. The various local princes and counts, chief among them Grown Prince RUPPRECHT (of Bavaria) and his hereditary prince ALBRECHT, unlike the completely forgotten HOHENZOLLERNS, still have an effective voice in these regions. A greater extension, a deeper penetration into the soul of the souther areas is indicated, and, therefore, also insofar as Italy is concerned, the Order of Malta could be most advantageously used.
- 15. The Order of Malta, by reason of its representatives in German territory, constitutes a rich intelligence field from which Italy could extract all the profit necessary. Among other potentially useful sources, the following are mentioned: the house of Count TORRING

(the old Countess SOFIA is the sister of the Queen Mother of Belgium) and, consequently, ex-Queen MARIA JOSE; the Duchess of Kent whose sister is married to Hereditary Prince Foto TORRING.

- 16. It is pointed out that the Italian Charge d'Affaires at Boan is regarded with sympathy and is highly qualified to act in this direction. He is considered an intelligent disciple of ATTOLICO, an unforgettable figure in Germany.
- 17. Russian activity in the western sector is divided into two sections. The first is that, previously mentioned, which is exclusively concerned with military preparation and the search for qualified personnal. The second is concerned with German intellectuals. Here too, the work is systematic and is facilitated by the centuries-old German spirit which is inclined towards the Kast. If memory serves, this inclination was manifested in 1918 at Berlin-Kurfuerstendamm, and led to those consequences which were so ably exploited by Namism and its Dr. GOEDELS. This work of russither Kulturpropaganda is said to be effectively aided by the Italian Communist Party, especially by its Milan circles. In this connection the name of one REMERTMING. Via Guerrissa, Milan; associated with the NERI & Constitut of Plasses S: Reasmo) is mentioned.
- 18. During the war BENFER was a member of the Mehrmacht, and it appears that he has undergone, or will be required to undergo trial at Como. At one time he was an unsuccessful cinema actor. Today, it is reported, he is the owner of a Milan apartment which he ordered build at a cost of several millions of lire, and he frequently travels in a lumurious automobile from Milan via Munich to the Russian Zone and Berlin. He is in a position to furnish necessary East Zone travel papers to Italian Communist journalists. H e is particularly fond of the company of intellectuals and journalists of the extreme Left, and in all his activities he is effectively added by his extremely intelligent and beautiful wife, the actress Jenny JUGOTM. Whereas the latter in 1945 professed great fear of the Russians, today abe travels without the alightest trepidation, and completely undisturbed, between Munich and the East Zone. Careful surveillance of BENFER and his milieu would lead to his identification either as a Russian agent (as is suspected), or as a businessman.
- 19. Another individual frequently encountered in Germany is one BROLLITT or FROLATTI who successfully trafficks in war materials. A short time ago it was reported that he had purchased a considerable number of hidden or forgotten German aircraft, paying for them by an exchange of mylon, allegedly in agreement with Italian authorities. He spends lavishly, and leads a life of luxury. He spends considerable sums on women, and he pays a group of trusted persons who collaborate with him in enterprises of a dubious nature.
- 20. Foreseeing the reestablishment of diplomatic relations between Bonn and other countries, the various pretenders have already begun jockeying for position. With reference to future relations to be established with Italy, it is considered timely to report what has been learned in Germany on the subject.

-7-21. Italy is the particular object of the views of the clique of RAHN, time HITLER-RIBBENTROP representative to MUSSOLINI's Salo governme mt. It is RAHN's intention to remain behind the scenes for the present, and it is for that reason that he is pushing forward his faithful and intimate collaborator MOLLHAUSE for Consul in Rome, later RAHNSs confident at Salo. MOLLHAUSE's undisturbed residence in Rome aroused considerable wonder in Germany where his past as an artramely active collaborator first with FIS, later with Vichy is well known. 22. According to RAHN's plans, MCLIHAUSE is to become Consul General in Rome, a post he will later code to the former. This would be a repetition of events of Spetember 1943, with the difference, however that whereas RAHN and MOLLHAUSE have remained on the scene, MUSSOLINI and Salo have disappeared. These two, because of their boundless ambitions, have brought themselves to forget the enormous and irreparable damage they inflicted on Italy when they succeeded in persuading CRAZIANI to accept MUSSOLINI's charge. ANother clique is that headed by Princess Annamaria BISMARC 23. zho is fully informed on Italian matters through her brother Albrecht who fully informed on Italian matters through her Drother Albrecht who lives in Rome. Both Princess Annamaria and her husband desire to return to Rome; to this end they are attempting to obtain the friendship of occupation authorities whom they frequently entertain in a lawish manner at their Friedrichsruhe castle.

Rishop HUDAL is interesting himself in the matter of reestablishing the German Embassy to the Holy See. HUDAL's right-hand man is Karl Gustay WOLLENWEHER, former Counselor of Embassy with Von BERHEN and WELESACKER, an ex-member of the Nasi Party, who was converted to Catholicism in 1945 during his intermment at Taormina where his moral conduct aroused severe criticism.

25. WOLLENWERER, also the favorite of en-Ambassador Yon BERGEN, was in Rome at the same time as MILL-MERGUENCE a member of the House of RUSPOLI, and his contact with Frincess Jaria Celeste "Bibi" RUSPOLI (nee CORRADINL-ROSSI, daughter of the Proprieterss of Dentions situated in Piasza Barberini and in the Salita San Sebestinello). WOLLENNERER whose past is a shady and corrupt one, is now trying to establish himself definitely in Rome by exploiting the inexplicable confidence of a highly intelligent Prince of the Church, one who is very well informed in other sectors (translator's note; precise meaning not clear in Italian text which hes apparently suffered in its translation from the German original).

26. It is well known that a skilfully organized arms traffic is currently taking place between Italy and Germany. The most preoccupying aspect of this traffic is the suspicion that such materials are reaching the USSR via Germany. Center of this traffic is 20mich where all its specialists meet at the Grand Hotel Dolder. Taking an active part in the enterprise are important German capitalists, principally Jews, who took refuge in Switzerland with their wealth. Their journeys to Italy are a daily occurrence. Snatches of overheard conversation indicate that their arms are destined for Arab or Jewish use. In fact, however, they are directed towards Cmechoslovakia and beyond. The one-time huge arms deals of the Nazis have been substituted by those with a view to the next war.

- 27. An important industrialist from Halle, a serious and well-informed person, who recently entered the West Zone for business reasons, reports that no one in the Eastern Zone doubts the insvitability of war, and, because of Russia's efforts in that direction, it im believed that its outbreak is imminent. The Russians are organising everywhere. Ex-military and Nasi Party Leaders are being showered with titles and honors. Considerable progress has been made a mong German youth who have been promised positions of command when the western area will have been occupied. The German military spirit is being cultivated everywhere. According to this industrialist, PAULUS¹ Army is an absolute and large-scale reality destined to play a decisive role between East and West on German soil.
- 28. Western Germany is today an ideal field for an intelligent and ably directed Italian campaign of cultural propaganda. In their territories the RUssians carry out such propagand efforts on a laviah scale. Western Germany, culturally impoverished and famished, would need, for example, an Italian film of the type of "Maria Goretti"; such a film would be gratefully received because of its affinity with the religious spirit which is very much alive there today. "Rome, Open City" and "Berlin, Year Zero" would, on the other hand, be completely unsuited to the purpose of propaganda because West Germany, rightly or wrongly, is extremely sensitive to similar subjects.
- 29. Among Italian newspapers (many people, because of their experience as ItalY's allies during the recent war, speak and read Italian) "Tempo" and the Milan "Giornale della Sera" are preferred. The articles of Count SFORZA are read with particular interest, whereas those of Enso GRAZZIMI and other receive scant attention.
- 30. The "Dante Alighieri" and other cultural societies could obtain great success by taking up common problems. Such books as PRATCLINI's "A Tale of Poor Lovers", which has been translated and most favorably received, would be welcome.
- 31. The GRAZIANI trial, too, could be well used for propaganda purposes.
- 32. In condusion, Western Germany finds herself at the crossraods: diffidence towards the West is widespread, and disillusionment continues. It will be sufficient to recall the enormous repercussions of the trial of Waffen-SS Colonel PEIPER and his men on charges of maltreating Americans at Eupen in 1945. After five years, when the entire situation is changed, to continue to loose a torrent of accusations against PEIPER and his companies, today themselves the victims of serious maltreatment by the Americans, is most inadvisable.

Sidoust -9-

- 33. There is currently being waged a campaign in PSIPER's favor by the Bishops of the two Churches, by the most important newspapers, and by all the populace who are submitting thousands and thousands of letters and entreaties.
- 34. Excellent possibilities exist in Western Germany, especially in the southern parts and the Whineland, for a cautious and ably handled rapprochement with Italy.
- 35. Chancellor ADENAUER, all his life a person of Western and Catholic views, is well qualified to obtain victoryalong these lines, and is in a good position to create a useful and necessary future brake against the tendencies of a new German militarism.

Nella previsione del ripristino delle relazioni diplomatiche tra Bonn e gli eltri Paesi, già è iniziata la corea dei pretendenti. Ai fini delle relazioni che nel futuro dovranno essere allacciate con l'Italia, non si ritiene superfluo riferire quanto si è appreso in Germania su questo argomento:

Verso l'Italia guerda innanzitutto la orioda di Rahn, notissimo ultimo, rappresentante di Hitler-Ribbentrop presso il governo di Sald. Rahn é intenzionato di rimanere ancora dietro le quinte e parciò spinge in avanti il suo fedellasimo ef intimo collaboratore HOLDHAUSE, ex console a Roma e poi suo fiduciario a Sald, cunto Moltanesse, 1s cui indisturbatissima residenza a Roma destava grande meraviglia in tutte la Sermania, eve era noto il suo attivissimo passato di collaboratore prima col servizio informazioni francese e poi con i Esquis di Vichy, fra i quali contava i suoi migliori amici.

Secondo il progetto di Rahn, Mollimuse dovrebbe diventare console generale a Roma e dovrebbe pol cedere questo posto a lui, ripetendocosì la storia del settembre 1943, con la differenza, però, obe; sebbene siano rimasti Rahn e Mollhause, pon di sono più Mussolini e Salò.
