PICKETING OF YUGOSLAV CONSULATE
SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA
NOVEMBER 18, 1967

Really? A source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, on this date advised that a demonstration of Croats would take place at the Yugoslav Consulate, San Francisco, on Saturday, November 18, 1967. This would be orderly and well controlled by the sponsoring organization, the Croatian Home of San Francisco. The picket line would call attention to the mysterious disappearance in September, 1967, while in Trieste, of Professor KRUNOSLAV DRAGANOVICH, a man who for twenty years has been active in aiding escapees from both Fascist-occupied and later Tito Communist Yugoslavia. The source added that DRAGANOVICH has been on the UDBa black list for many years and that Croats all over the world owe their safety and lives to DRAGANOVICH, and wish to aid him. They are convinced DRAGANOVICH was kidnapped by Yugoslav police and dragged off to Yugoslavia. Cables have been sent to the Vatican where DRAGANOVICH had an office, the United Nations, the U.S. State Department, the Foreign Secretariat of Austria, of which country he is a citizen, and the Cardinal of Vienna. The Austrian Foreign Minister has replied they have inquired of the Yugoslav Government but have received no information.

The Yugoslav Intelligence and Security Service is frequently referred to as the UDBa.
