Following the graduation from the seminary he was ordained a Priest and served in Sarajevo from 1930 to 1932. During this period he was in direct contact with Dr. Ivan SARIC, the Catholic Archbishop of Bosnia, perhaps the most rabid opponent of the Orthodox Serbs and the Yugoslav Royal family (the KARADJORDJEVIC Family), which is of Serbian origin, and a vociferous champion of the Independent State of Greater Croatia (which would include all of Croatia, Dalmatia, Bosnia and Herzegovina to the Drina River in the East, and also Slavonia and Srem, i.e. the lands North of the Save River and South of the Danube River right up to the confluence of the Sava with the Danube at Belgrade). It was under the auspices of Archbishop SARIC that he was sent to Rome in 1932 to attend the Instituto Orientale Puteolano where he majored in ethnology and Balkan affairs. He obtained his Doctorate in 1935 and returned to Sarajevo, where he acted as Secretary to Archbishop SARIC from 1935 through 1940. In February 1941 he was appointed teacher of Ecclesiastical History at the University of Zagreb, Croatia.

B. Activities from April 1941 to Mid-1945:

There are conflicting reports regarding Subject's activities during the period from April 1941 to August 1943. According to some reports, shortly after the Independent State of Croatia was established in April 1941 by the late Ante Pavelic, the leader of the Ustasha (a Croatian political organization), with the support and approval of Nazi Germany, Subject became a leading figure in the Office for Colonization, an office engaged in confiscating the property of the Orthodox Serbs living in Bosnia, Herzegovina, the like areas of Croatia (in which lived the majority of the Serbian minority of Croatia), Slavonia and Srem, and distributing said property to the Ustasea. Subject reportedly was in the habit of traveling in the above listed areas in the uniform of an Ustasha Colonel. He was also said to have been killed while in uniform. Other reports identify Subject as a member of a Committee that forcibly converted thousands of Serbians from the Serbian Orthodox to the Roman Catholic Church.

(As a result of their opposition to such forcible conversions, several hundred thousand Serbs living on the territory of the independent Croatian State suffered, dying at the hands of the Ustashe and Banovian military forces during World War II. or NGOs specifically. While the independent Croatian State was in existence, this resulted in many Serbs, and even many Croats who were opposed to such inhuman measures, joining the Partisan guerrilla units to fight both the Germans and the Croat State, even though they were not in favor of Communism.) Since the end of World War II, many Serbs living outside Yugoslavia have accused Ante Pavelic personally responsible for the deaths of over 10,000 Serbs from Croatia, killed by the Ustashe at a time of their drive to exterminate the Yugoslav population in Croatia. (Subject and author also maintains, as well as the German historian Dr. J. C. G. Rammel of the Dokobran and Dr. M. Babić, that the Ustashe military units - so-called "Death Squads" of the Banovian were the actual killing forces of the Croatian State.) According to his own statement, he was the author of the "Anti-Serbian" article published in the "Croatian People's Voice" newspaper on November 29, 1941, and October 1942.

The subject of today's document is the political situation in Croatia during the period of 1941-1945, particularly the period of the Banovian State. The author, in his above article of October 1942, has indicated that after the formation of the Banovian State, the Ustashe had to deal with the following problems:
1) How to get rid of the Serbs? (This was done by the Ustashe through the use of the "Death Squads" and the "Death Marches" of 1941-1942)
2) How to get rid of the Jews? (This was done by the Ustashe through the use of the "Death Squads" and the "Death Marches" of 1941-1942)
3) How to get rid of the Roma? (This was done by the Ustashe through the use of the "Death Squads" and the "Death Marches" of 1941-1942)
When the Banovian State was formed, it was about 100,000 Serbs as the first inhabitants.

Saint

He continued to represent the Croatian Red Cross, but was also recorded as an unofficial chargé d'Affairs of the Croatian State at the Vatican. Thus when the Croatian State collapsed, he was in the ideal position to help the many Ustasha who fled Yugoslavia, and as Secretary of an organization known as the Confraternita Croata in Italy he issued Identity Documents with false names to many Croat, primarily Ustashas who were considered war criminals, and is the individual most responsible for making it possible for the Ustashas to emigrate overseas, primarily to Argentina, but also to Chile, Venezuela, Australia, Canada and even the United States. He is alleged to have provided even some German Nazi war criminals with false Identity Cards with false Croatian names, thus enabling them to emigrate from Europe and avoid standing trial in Germany for their war-time activities. Subject and his Croatian supporters claim that Subject assisted Serbs, Slovenes and other Yugoslavives as well as Croats, and say that he had been motivated by any sort charitable and compassionate reasons in this activity.

C. Activities from 1945 to Date

Subject engaged in those activities in some way immediately from the end of World War II to 1950. From 1950 to 1955, he was a member of the Board of Directors of the San Girolamo Asylum, a Catholic college sponsored by the Vatican and was funded by obaz Croatian Catholic priests by their benevolence, while parallel various boards of study. He also became a sponsor of the San Girolamo Asylum for the years 1955-1960. Croatia Mif for Dr. Petar Factor of the San Girolamo Asylum, and a friend of the late Dr. Ivan Kraljevic, Dr. Juraj Vukotic, a close collaborator of Subject. In his activities around the San Girolamo Asylum, he claimed that he was an Ustasha, a star of the Nazi party working for an independent Croatia meant being an Ustasha, when it was justified. However, he stated "I disassociate myself from all other territories or the Ustashas." He is also known to have founded the late Abba PAHLIC on the grounds that PAHLIC organized in 1946. Subject denied this claim, and charged that he was an Ustasha, a star of the Nazi party working for an independent Croatia meant being an Ustasha, when it was justified. However, he stated "I disassociate myself from all other territories or the Ustashas." He is also known to have founded the late Abba PAHLIC on the grounds that PAHLIC organized the Ustasha Government in 1929 (prior to the assassination of Stjepan Radić, leader of the Croatian Peasant Party, in the Yugoslav Parliament by a Macedonian, i.e. Macedonian Deputy), as well as an answer to the Serbian Church (Croatia, which Subject claims had been an Ambassador of Serbian origin) of the Croat, who also admits that he is a proponent of an independent greater Croatian State and that he supports the anti-Yugoslav Federation composed of Slovenia, Croatia, Austria, Hungary, Czechoslovakia and Poland (sometimes referred to as a "Central Balkan League" between Yugoslavia and the Soviet Union or even as the Catholic-Hindu-Christian League (CATHOLIC COMMUNIST and the Iberian-Orthodox League). And further, Subject was claimed by him to have just in the release of over 10,000 Yugoslav internees in Italy during 1943, 1944 and 1945.

In 1949, Subject was in Argentina in the capacity of the last Ambassador of the Yugoslav Republic to Rome shortly thereafter. In 1950 he was found to be serving as a Diplomatic Representative to the Vatican. In April, 1951 he went to the Italian capital of Rome to receive his appointment as Ambassador of the Yugoslav Republic to Argentina. Subsequently he was appointed to the diplomatic mission of the Yugoslav Republic to Mexico City, Mexico, in 1952 and remained there until 1954. In 1954 he became Ambassador of the Yugoslav Republic to the United States and remained there until 1956. He then returned to Mexico City where he remained until 1959. Following his return to the United States he was assigned to the Yugoslav Embassy in London, England, where he remained until 1961. Following his return to the United States he was assigned to the Yugoslav Embassy in Washington, D.C., where he remained until 1965. Croats in the past and of the present are very much involved in the politics of the former Yugoslavia and the Yugoslav Government has done little to encourage their emigration to the United States. This has been a factor in the large number of Croats in the United States.

SECRET
Finally, in 1952 subject became Secretary of the "Brotovacia Relief Association" with headquarters in Rome. This close associate of Comptor Dr. Józef WADZIĘC, with whom he organized the Association, became president.

Subject's political activities eventually brought him recognition in the Vatican, and in December 1958 Comptor Dr. Józef WADZIĘC Vice Minister of the College of Cardinals, asked him to leave the College, on order of the Secretary of State of the Vatican. He thus sought to an apartment at 23 Via De' Fiori, Rome. In time he moved from Italy to Vienna, Austria, and became an Austrian citizen. And it was while living in Austria that he visited friends, former members of underground groups in November 1967. He did not hesitate to conclude that he had been kidnapped by communists, and that they were responsible for his kidnapping. The group that he met was composed of former members of the underground, and they repeatedly requested the Italian and Austrian authorities that subject be extradited to Italy in order that he could be tried for his past revolutionary activities.

Political Activities
The Soviet intelligence records indicate that in 1953 subject began to service the communist party in Italy, and since that time he has been a member of its Politburo, and of the Central Committee. He was a member of the Central Committee of the Italian Communist Party from 1956 to 1962. He was also a member of the Central Committee of the Italian Socialist Party, and was reelected to the Central Committee of the Italian Socialist Party in 1967. Subject has been a member of the Italian People's Assembly since 1958, and has been a member of the Italian People's Assembly since 1962. He has been a member of the Italian People's Assembly since 1962.

Subject's biography contains much information about his military experience during the 1956 Hungarian Revolution, but this information is not reliable, as it was obtained from a Czechoslovak defector in 1957. It is known, however, that he was a member of the Hungarian People's Army during the revolution, and was promoted to the rank of Captain. He was later promoted to the rank of Lieutenant Colonel. He was a member of the Hungarian People's Army during the revolution, and was promoted to the rank of Captain. He was later promoted to the rank of Lieutenant Colonel.

Q. It may be of interest to note that while the Yugoslav government and officials state that Subject Tolmachev entered in writing that he performed the return of Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia (Czechoslovakia (Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia) to the Yugoslav People's Army and the Yugoslav People's Navy, even though they claim that he is living in Yugoslavia and is free to do so, according to an official decision of Minister of Defense of Yugoslavia, he has been granted permission to leave the Yugoslav People's Army for his wife's service activities.

Subject's mother (Yugoslav) is a widow and she is living in Yugoslavia and her brother, Krasilnikov, was reported to have been living in the British Isles of Germany in 1947. After receiving certain information which could not resolve the whereabouts of Subject, Subject was kidnapped by the Yugoslav People's Army returning to Yugoslavia to obtain some secret.
