1. Paragraph 3, ZJL-790, states that TSUJI Masanobu's son is being given streptomycin by KATO Katsuro for a T.B. condition. A check on the kanji for this name has shown that it is SATO Katsuro, rather than KATO. SATO is described in ZJL-724-B as a former subordinate and at that time a close friend of TSUJI, founder of ATO Shobo (in which TSUJI invested $100,000 and which published TSUJI's books), and a Communist or Communist-sympathiser. According to Source's informant, MATSUI Tadao, SATO is a low sort of person who was using TSUJI's reputation and money to further his own interests.
