    The German Officer Junta in Argentina has been working underground to build up a German unit of all branches for service in the Egyptian Army. This is apparently part of a widespread organization to bring German officers and soldiers back into service. The Junta is in touch with the Egyptian Embassy in Buenos Aires, Argentina. Following are "Who's Who" notes on some of the leaders:

After Hitler came to power, became "Reichschulungleiter des National-sozialistischen Studentenbundes." Later he became a newspaperman and was chief editor of the periodical "Unser Wille und Unser Weg," also Berlin editor of "Nationalsozialistische Rheinfront." He has also written numberous books, among which are "Vierzehn Jahre Juden-republik Weimar," "Geschichte des Nationalsozialismus," and "Adolf Hitler." These made him a leader in Nazi literature.
