Dear Leon:

Many thanks for your letter of May 1st.

Strangely enough, despite every effort, I do not have the text of K's speech and I am frankly beginning to wonder whether any text was ever circulated. The Jugs claim to have something, but I am not sure quite what.

I have made a few speeches recently - probably too many - and I am sending them to you under separate cover.

Sincerely,

SIGNED

Dear Allen,

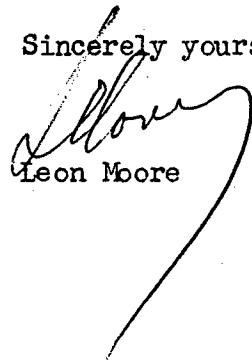

As I sent you a copy of my letter to Henry Luce about the Orlov article, you may be amused to read Mr. Luce's answer, copy of which I enclose.

Louis Fisher confidentially showed me extracts from the secret Khrushchev speech to the Party Congress about Stalin. It was incomplete and did not give the full picture. According to Fisher, this text came to the United States through the Yugoslav Communist Party.

I am most anxious to read the full text of the speech which may be very helpful for my analytical work and I shall be very grateful to you if I could have a copy of it in case you have one.

Best regards.

Sincerely yours,

Leon Moore

Dear Mr. Moore:

Immediately upon receipt of your letter I have sent it back across the ocean to my principal assistant, Mr. C. D. Jackson, and have asked him to get in touch with you as soon as possible.

Your criticism of the Orlov story seems most convincing and is therefore distressing. Naturally I hope that somehow or other you may be mistaken in this case. On the other hand if we have been misled we must try to correct the record -- and more than that to bring to light the full and true story of the whole dirty Russian business.

I regret that I did not manage to have a serious talk with you before I left the U.S. a few weeks ago. I look forward to having this talk the end of May. Meanwhile, I do hope you will be as helpful as you can to Mr. Jackson.

With all regards,

Sincerely yours,

/s/ HENRY R. LUCE
