A search of the Portuguese Patent Offices revealed that there are only two holders of button rights in force at the present time--one a German and the other a Portuguese. I thought it best to have a complete search made to include all applications for button rights which might prove of interest to you. The complete list is attached. In addition you will find attached a list of button manufacturers in Portugal which also might be of interest to you. (Please excuse the delay as it took quite some time to arrive at the conclusion obtained through our indirect method suggested by you. How is Washington these days? Please say hello to the boys.)
