Dear George:

I was very sorry to have missed you in London too. If the British strain of this winter's flu is as unpleasant as its American cousin, I can well understand that you have been out of circulation for some time.

The President's trip did go very well, and I am encouraged that we have at least made a good start on consultations with our European friends on a whole complex of problems.

I hope you will let me know if you plan to come to Washington. It would be good to have a chance to talk.

Best regards,

HS/
