

~~CONFIDENTIAL//NOFORN~~

(b)(1)
(b)(3)

From: David H. Petraeus Subject: Re: OPA End of Day
Sent by: [redacted] To: Cynthia L. Rapp
Date: 03/16/2012 12:45 AM Cc: David H. Petraeus, Michael J. Morell, V. Sue Bromley, [redacted]

(b)(3)
(b)(3)

This message is digitally signed.

Thx, Didi. Roger all.

(b)(1)
(b)(3)

~~CONFIDENTIAL//NOFORN~~

~~CONFIDENTIAL//NOFORN~~

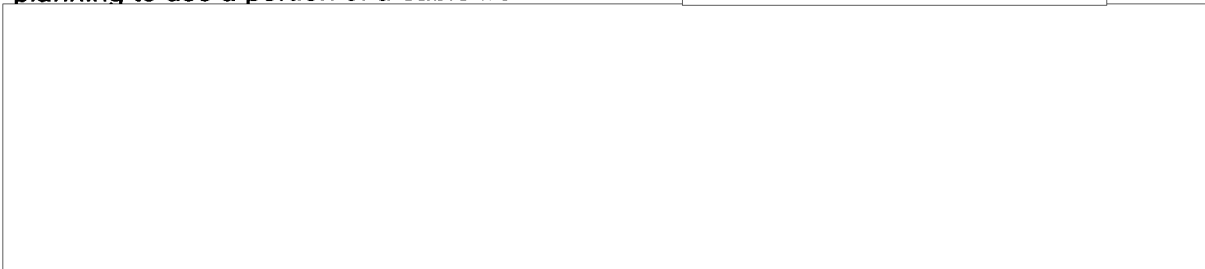

From: Cynthia L. Rapp Subject: OPA End of Day
Date: 03/15/2012 08:11 PM To: David H. Petraeus, Michael J. Morell, V. Sue Bromley
Cc: [redacted]

(b)(3)

Just a couple of things to note.

- Siobhan Gorman/WSJ continues to work on her Soleimani piece. She told us she is planning to use a portion of a cable from WikiLeaks [redacted]

(b)(1)
(b)(1)

- You may know that the WH/CT staff has been working with the IC to declassify and analyze documents taken from UBL's compound. They have organized some of the documents thematically for use with press where they could provide a strategic communications benefit. The first such collection is called "Al-Qaida's Weaknesses, Internal Disputes, and Bin Ladin's Views." That material was exclusively reviewed this week by David Ignatius, who has secured essentially half of the Washington Post's Sunday editorial page for column on the subject. The column will paint a picture of a fractured, weakened AQ core, and a hunkered down, brooding UBL cut off from his organization by our CT efforts. Because Ignatius's column is disseminated globally, its possible that some papers will post it sometime tomorrow.

~~CONFIDENTIAL//NOFORN~~

CONFIDENTIAL//NOFORN

- DD/NCS [redacted] gave a good interview to WTOP's JJ Green (who will be at your media dinner next week) on his life in the NCS and diversity efforts at CIA. The interview will be featured in a couple of on-air segments and a blog article.

(b)(3)

- [redacted]

(b)(1)
(b)(3)

Cheers, Didi

Cynthia L. Rapp
D/OPA

[redacted]

CONFIDENTIAL//NOFORN