As you know, investigating records compiled for law enforcement agencies are no longer generally exempted from disclosure, but may be inspected (in camera) by the United States Courts to determine whether they fall within any of six specified accented categories of investigating records subscribed in the Act[s].

If for any reason it is determined that portions of the material requested have been exempted under some recognizable category under the F.O.I. Act or the Privacy Act of 1974, then I request that any such material be indexed and itemized with detailed justification for any exclusions made under the authority of Vauhgn v. Rosen (484 F.2d 820; District of Columbia Circuit 1973). However, I do request all of these documents as quickly as possible, and in no way waive my right to the file in its' entirety, which, after I examine the material you send, I may still choose to press for more by appeal to include any excluded portions.
