3. Japanese Soldiers in Indo-China
.....
Source believes that if the Japanese soldiers are allowed to fight for HO, U.S. economic and armed assistance in Indo-China will be futile. The simplest way of destroying HO's influence would be to repatriate the former Japanese Armed Forces personnel. To this and Source recommends that former high ranking Japanese officers of known ability be secretly dispatched to contact the leaders of the group. It is believed that no general officers are involved with HO; however, a number of supposedly dead field grade officers are heading the group as HO's military aides. For such a mission Source recommends former Maj. Gen. Tokujiro SAKURAI, well known in the Japanese Army for his military exploits; former Colonel Masanobu TSUJI, also known for his exploits and the author of "Traveling in Disguise for 3,000 Ri"; and former Lt. Colonel Genji KIKKAWA, who recently made headlines on account of his secret visit to CHIANG Kai-shek in Formosa.
