(U//~~FOUO~~) Filmmakers Shoot B-Roll of Director Brennan for Documentary

(U//~~FOUO~~) On Saturday, 25 July, French-born American filmmakers Jules Clément Naudet and Thomas Gédéon Naudet came to Headquarters to film some B-roll for their newest project, Spymasters. The Naudet brothers have been interviewing all living CIA Directors, including Director Brennan, for the documentary. In this photo, Director Brennan walks down the corridor by the OHB lobby. The Naudets also filmed other locations on site, including the Berlin Wall and Kryptos.

(U) The Naudets are best known for the footage they (unintentionally) captured of the 9/11 attacks in New York. While filming a documentary on the members of the Engine 7, Ladder 1 firehouse in Lower Manhattan, Jules captured the only clear footage of the first jet, American Airlines Flight 11, hitting the North Tower of the World Trade Center. They used their footage in the 2002 documentary film 9/11.
